of the historic Plymouth church, Brooklyn, where the late Henry Ward Beecher preached and where members of the famous civil war character were kept, was swept by fire early today, with a loss estimated to be more than $70,000.

The fire started in a store room and many members of the congregation and three fire departments fought the blaze. Many Beecher relics, mementoes and documents were destroyed or damaged while nine memorial windows—one of them depicting the influence of pilgrims upon American life —were wrecked. A hundred oil paintings were ruined, including one of Beecher himself, valued at $6,000.
In the church proper the walls and ceilings were soaked by water and the pipes of the $100,000 organ filled with water and the windows demolished by heat.

Venued to Porter Co.

VALPARAISO, Ind., Nov. 25.—Among the recent cases of interest appearing on the docket of Porter county courts is the case of Owen Kitchell vs. The Gary Street Railway company, taken in change of venue from Lake circuit court. It appears, from the complaint, that the plaintiff was injured due to the negligence of defendant's employees in operating one of its street cars over and upon an open switch at Buchanan street in the city of Gary, Ind. Serious injuries resulted from this accident—blood-poisoning—and as a result thereof permanent injuries are alleged. $10,000 are the damages claimed as compensation for plaintiff's injuries suffered by him. The case is set as a jury trial and will be heard Monday, Dec. 6.

HOGS ARE MORE ACTIVE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 24.—Hogs were more active today on the Indianapolis market, with prices steady to 15 cents higher. Despite 14,000 receipts, however, there were not enough hogs at $10 to supply the demand occasioned by the approaching Thanksgiving holiday, with packers seizing the supply for Friday. Commission men today were more hopeful for the general trend of the market.

INVESTIGATE CASHIER'S SHORTAGE

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 24.—Because bank officials have been unable thus far to present proper figures, the Vanderburgh county grand jury, which was expected to conduct an investigation into the alleged $25,000 shortage in the accounts of Carl Heldt, former assistant cashier of the Mercantile Commercial bank, probably will not enter into a probe at this session. It was stated today by C. H. Battin, president of the bank. Bank officials today were going over Heldt's books.

Probably the most valuable and interesting of all the Russian crowns was the one made in 1562 for Catharine II by Baurle, a celebrated jeweler arine this crown has been used at the coronation of all the rulers of Russia.
